

Legal information

We value each of our clients, regardless of their account type. In all cases, you will receive the most professional service. But Fletrade (hereinafter referred to as the Company) trades with you, for you, instead of you, but does not manage your finances.

The Company provides you with a full and exclusive service and, if the level of your Trading Account allows it, and you express a desire, the Company can spend time explaining the mechanisms of Exchange trading or the basics that allow you to gain skills in reading technical indicators or their possible combinations, and you can also get explanations from the Company about the most significant factors that have the greatest impact on financial markets at a given time, i.e. the ABC of financial markets.

Any "Signals", "Strategies", "Advice", "Training", "Educational video courses", "Webinars" and other recommendations are for informational purposes only, you can make decisions yourself or get full support from your broker directly in order to minimize your risks and increase the profitability of your trading account.

Legal aspects

By opening a Trading Account on our Site, you must agree to the Client Agreement, Privacy Policy, and other policies and terms posted on the Site, which in essence constitute an Irrevocable Offer made under the laws of the Netherlands United Kingdom.

You must confirm your Trading Account, i.e. go through the verification procedure.

If necessary, based on the results of your trading, you can request from us a report on the operations on your trading account for tax reporting in your country of residence.
